A Scene Only as Old as Yesterday: This Couple Drive Into Hope in a Buggy Every Saturday

Every Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Lester Orr drive into Hope with a horse and buggy from their farm home one and a half miles south just off State Highway 29 to visit friends and do some shopping. So these pictures made by The Star on the old home place will be familiar to many a city reader. Just for the record the editor made the top picture showing the detail of the entire outfit. It's a sight that raises a lump in the throat of the older generation. In the bottom picture Mr. Lester is "handing up" his wife to the buggy seat—and please note the upholstery. The early automobiles drew all their coachwork ideas from the horse carriages, particularly the buttoned upholstery shown in this picture. Mr. and Mrs. Orr married 51 years ago, June 14, 1905, have lived on the same farm for 20 years, now comprising 10 acres since they sold 50 to W. W. Ellen. Mr. Orr worked for the Graydon Anthony saw mill until retired by injury. The horse? She's a mare, 14, named Pat. Mr. Orr got her in a trade with Will Dodson three years ago. The buggy, in excellent condition, was bought about the same time from P. J. Holt.

Egypt Delays Start of River Dam

By WARREN ROGERS JR.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Egypt has switched signals on the West and postponed the start of work on the Aswan Dam. Officials who reported this today said Egyptian Premier Camel Abdel Nasser decided not to launch the $1,300,000,000 project until he reaches agreement with neighboring Sudan on host to divide the Nile River waters affected.

They said they are convinced Nasser still wants to build the dam to do it with American, British and World Bank financing. Nasser and Eugene Black, president of the World Bank, announced in Cairo Feb. 9 they had reached "substantial agreement on financing the irrigation-power dam, designed as the world's biggest structure, on the Upper Nile."

Irishmen Lead Fairly Normal Lives Until St. Patrick's Day Comes—Then Watch Out

(Editor's Note — Stirred by his annual admiration of St. Patrick, whose disciples parade tomorrow, one of our Irish-descended reporters offers again a piece that has gone before.)
BY HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—What is it to be Irish?
On 364 days of the year being Irish isn't visibly different from being French, Italian, Jewish, Serbian, Dutch, or — yes — even English. The Irishman pays his bills, complains against his taxes, does his work, and listens to his wife

State Hospital Job Open to Somebody

HOT SPRINGS, (AP) — The State Hospital Board of Control, making no mention of Gov. Orval Faubus candidate for administrator of the mental institution, yes to screen applicants for the job. As the board was meeting here, Faubus refused to confirm, or deny, in Little Rock that he is seeking a former superintendent of the hospital as a replacement for Dr. Ewing H. Crawfis. Dr. Crawfis has indicated that he might resign if Faubus chose manager of the hospital lacks qualifications for the job, but gets the position anyhow. In reply to a reporters questions about a published report that Faubus is trying to get Dr. George W. Jackson to return to Arkansas, the governor issued this terse memorandum: "As often as Dr. Crawfis has threatened to resign, it would simply be a matter of forethought to look around for a good successor. Pressed for a more detailed answer, Faubus said, "I didn't say I had and I didn't say I hadn't. Dr. Jackson resigned as superintendent of the State Hospital several years ago to take a position in the Texas mental hospital system. He since has moved to Kansas."

like the man of any other race. But on this one day of the year — holy St. Patrick's Day — the Irishman becomes an Irishman. And on this day you have to be Irish to know what it is to be Irish. The outer signs, of course, can't be seen by all. The Irishman over-night grows a foot taller and stalks the earth a giant. All traffic lights turn green before him, and if they don't he sees red. But this air of majesty is only token evidence of interior change. The men of other races who envy the Irishman has bearing on St. Patrick's Day. Continued on Page Two

Senate Prepared for Showdown on Farm Bill

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fatigued but still full of fight, the Senate meets today for a session which leaders said should bring passage of the politically hot election-year farm bill.

Both Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and Republican Leader Knowland of California urged senators to stay nearby, ready to vote and complete action. A 12-hour session yesterday reshaped several sections of the omnibus bill but still left a thick stack of proposed amendments undecided.

Both Sen. Ellender (D-La.), floor manager for the bill, and Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.), who usually speaks for the administration on it, said they expect to wind up action sometime tonight. The highly controversial measure—already containing features the administration opposes and others it did not ask—then moves to the house which rated last year for a two-year restoration of mandatory rigid supports on basic crops. The Senate voted instead, by close margins, to stick with President Eisenhower's system of flexible and lower supports.

Eisenhower lost a round yesterday, however, as the Senate voted 46-45 to retain a "dual parity" system for determining the price support levels of wheat, cotton, corn, peanuts and other crops eligible for the price program. Under "dual parity," farmers can use the higher of old or new systems for computing a fair exchange value on their crops. Converted from a few cents a bushel or pound onto existing price supports, the differences could mean hundreds of millions of dollars on crops this campaign year.

Sen. Anderson (D-NM), farmer secretary of agriculture who has opposed high-level supports, said "dual parity could cost up to a billion dollars in all. Other senators thought it might mean between 300 to 400 million dollars more to farmers or in government farm costs. If the final farm bill includes this, Anderson said, "I think the President will be inclined not to sign it."

Just before quitting last night, the Senate by voice vote added 100 million dollars to the soil bank plan in a move led by Sen. Allott (R-Colo.). That raised the authorized total to $1,200,000,000.

Hays Want Course in Middle East

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP) — Rep. Hays (D-Ark) wants Congress to chart a course for the United States in the troubled Middle East. The course would be aimed at preserving peace and according fair treatment to all nations. Hays yesterday presented a resolution which would put Congress on record as favoring unbiased friendship for all countries of the Middle East; opposing intrusion of communism in the area; and pledging to work for peace through the United Nations. The resolution also would reaffirm a 1950 commitment recognizing that the Arab states and Israel need to maintain a certain level of armed strength. Hays is a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Unsettled Middle East Sees Violence in Algeria, Cyprus, Threats of Israeli-Arab War

By DAVE MASON

ALGIERS (AP) — Masked gunmen set fire to a huge French garage in a terrorist raid in the heart of this Algerian metropolis today. In western Algeria guerrillas staged massive sabotage of communications. That recalled tactics used by the Communist-led Viet-minh against the French in Indo-China.

The French put a midnight to 5 a. m. curfew in Algiers and sent troops scurrying over the countryside in search of the saboteurs. The gunmen seized the garage just before 2 a. m., held off watchmen, poured gasoline over the floor and set it ablaze.

By JOSEPH E. DYNAN
PARIS (AP)—Premier Guy Mollet's government got affairs going today for an all-out fight to smash rebellion in Algeria. But French colonists in the stormy North African area posed a more immediate problem with a demand that death sentences hanging over some 85 Moslem terrorists be carried out by next Wednesday.

A committee representing virtually every major group among the one million European residents of Algeria said they would shut down all municipal offices and stop cooperating with authorities if their ultimatum was not met.

One veteran observer of the 16-month-old revolt warned in Algiers: "The whole thing could blow up in our faces in a minute."

Ten attacks on Frenchmen or program for stamping out the reported from the city of Algiers itself while the Council of the Republic, Frances Senate, was meeting in Paris to endorse Mollet's program for stamping out the revolt. The reports listed no casualties but said property damage was considerable.

Authorities said French forces killed 37 rebels in 15 scattered actions yesterday in central and eastern Algeria. At least one French soldier was killed and two were wounded.

The Senate gave an overwhelming 29-7 vote of approval to the bill granting the government emergency powers for military, economic and administrative decisions. The measure was approved by the National Assembly earlier this week. Mollet has promised the Algerians that elections will be held within three months after violence is ended.

Kiwanis to Stage Minstrel Next Week

The 13th annual Hope Kiwanis club minstrel will open a two-night stand in the auditorium of Hope High School next Thursday night at 8 o'clock.

A cast of 60, composed mostly of Kiwanis club members, started nightly rehearsals more than a week ago. Progress has been good and polish is being added with every performance.

The program of fun and frolic includes singers, dancers, black-faced comedians and specialty acts. The show this season is being produced and directed by the minstrel and special events committee, and promises to be bigger and better than any previous show, which annually attracts a capacity crowd.

New and different from any of the past shows, the performance has been timed at two hours, which includes a 10-minute intermission. In order to accommodate the crowd, the show will be staged two nights, Thursday and Friday, March 22 and 23. The Junior Kiwanis Queen will be crowned the opening night, and the Senior Queen just prior to the Friday night show.

Harrell H. Hall, in charge of ticket sales, said that candidates for the Junior Queen would be chosen from the seventh, eighth and ninth grades. Students will select three candidates from each grade. The Senior Queen to be crowned on Friday night, will be selected from candidates of the 10th, 11th and 12th grades. Each grade will select three candidates.

From the two divisions, candidates selling the most tickets, will be named Queen. Price of admission will be one dollar for adults, 50-cents for students. Haskell Jones of Radio Station KXAR, has been selected as Mr. Interlocutor, and will be supported by such well-known end-men as Eddie Whitman, Guy Grigg, Horace Fuller, Harry Hawthorne, Jimmy Miller and Paul O'Neal.

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — British troops isolated the major Cypriot port of Limassol today, clamping on the toughest curfew yet seen on this violence-riddled East Mediterranean island.

The order confining Limassol's 25,000 citizens to their homes said the curfew would continue until "further notice." British officials said the port 38 miles southwest of Nicosia "has always been a bad trouble spot and that terrorist incidents had increased there. A 10 o'clock curfew was imposed on the city for fugitive terrorists. The village of Cato Zochi, near Paphos, also was put under a strict curfew after a stone-throwing incident.

Communist leaders of the biggest labor union called for an end to the general strike protesting the deportation of Archbishop Makarios, leader of the islands movement for union with Greece. But Greek shopkeepers, laborers and clerks so far ignored the union appeal and continued their shut-down, now in its fifth day. Gasoline and fuel oil shortages were reported from some sections of the island.

The spontaneous work stoppage has paralyzed most business activity on the island since Monday and halted construction work at big British military projects. Labor leaders said the walkout may end by Tuesday, Sunday and Monday are religious holidays.

Pro-Greek terrorists continued their bitter fight against British control. A Royal Air Force man was wounded outside an army barracks here. Two policemen were injured in an exchange of gunfire.

Sales Ratio Is State's Weapon on Assessments

— Says Hinton

Despite a cold and rainy night a large portion of the 300 membership of the Southwest Arkansas Schoolmasters Club appeared at Hope High School at 7 p. m. Thursday to hear W. L. Hinton, director of the assessment division of the Arkansas Public Service Commission, describe the state-level operation as authorized by Act 153 of 1955.

Professional schoolmen and district directors from six of the nine counties dined in the high school cafeteria at 7 and then moved to the spacious school library for the speaking. Represented were Hempstead, Sevier, Miller, Little River, Lafayette and Nevada counties. Other counties affiliated with the club are Pike, Howard and Columbia.

While some of the counties have shown more initiative than others in launching property appraisals 70 of the 75 total counties are definitely interested in tackling the assessment reform job, Mr. Hinton said.

"You will recall that Act 153 provides for equalization of property assessments rather than increased taxes," the speaker continued. "It is a factual job of appraisal at the local level, with our agency furnishing at the state level such guides as assessing manuals and periodic schools for county assessors."

"Eventually the tax assessor should become primarily an appraiser."

President Asked to Enforce New Integration Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — The segregation issue flared up again in the Senate today when Sen. Lehman (D-NY) called for President Eisenhower to "assume the responsibility for enforcement of the Supreme Courts school integration decree."

"I can not stand above the battle, like President Eisenhower," and say with fine impartiality that both sides must show restraint," Lehman said.

Sen. Neuberger (D-Ore) chimed in with a renewal of his suggestion that President Eisenhower call a White House conference on racial problems.

He said that "it is incumbent on the President, whose office represents the apex of national leadership, to exercise that leadership in a national crisis as grave and as far-reaching as this one."

"The sooner the President does so, Neuberger said, "the better are the chances to head off further deterioration of our country's strength at home and abroad." Neuberger said it was "intentional for the President to call for patience and moderation while asking for a congressional commission which Neuberger said would have no "powers of compulsion."

Eisenhower suggested Jan. 5 the creation of a congressional commission to make a continuing study of racial tensions. He has said such a body would have greater powers than any commission he appointed since it could be given the congressional authority to subpoena witnesses.

2,500 Russians Flock to Hear U. S. Preachers

MOSCOW (AP)—More than 2,500 Russians jammed Moscow's central Baptist church last night to hear a sermon and talks by visiting American church leaders.

Most of the Russians appeared to be in their 50s. They wiped tears from their eyes as the Americans spoke, chorused "Amen" repeatedly and nodded vigorously as the messages were translated.

As each American was introduced, the congregation rose to chorus "Welcome in Russian." The 10-man American delegation is here for conference with Russian churchmen in an effort to better understanding between American and Russian religious groups.

The speakers last night included Dr. Eugene C. Blake of Philadelphia, president of the National Council of Churches; Dr. Franklin C. Fry of New Rochelle, N. Y., president of the United Lutheran Church of America; Bishop D. Ward Nichols of New York, presiding bishop of the African Methodist Episcopal Church; and Vasil Zhidkov, president of the Council of Evangelical Baptist Churches of the Soviet Union.

Dr. Blake said he brought greetings from the Christians of the United States, who "feel warm Christian love for you." Bishop Nichols told the Russians the Negro life in America "is like that of any other people."

Patriots Day would envy him far more if they could look inside the Irishman's soul.

"What is it to be Irish?"

"How can you put the wonder of it into words? If a psychiatrist stretched himself out on his own warm couch after his last customer had gone home, and he dreamed of the man he himself would like to be—well, he might be perfect, but he'd still be only half an Irishman on St. Patrick's Day.

"What is it to be Irish?"

"It is to have an angel in your mouth, turning your prose to poetry. It is to have the gift of tongues to know the language of all living things. Does an Irishman pause and turn an ear to a tree? It is because on his day he wants to hear what one sleepy bud said to another as it opens its pale green hands to the warm sun of spring.

"What is it to be Irish?"

"Oh, on this day it is music. Not just the cornet in the parading high school band, but the deep, deep music of living; the low, sad hymns of eternity; the Irishman hears the high song of the turning spheres; the dim lullaby of the worm in its cocoon. All the world is in tune, and he is in step with the tune, the tune that only he can hear.

"What is it to be Irish?"

"It is to live the whole history of his race between a dawn and a dawn—the long wrongs, the bird-swift joys, the endless hurt of his ancestors since the morning of time in a forgotten forest, the knock-at-his-heart that is part of his religion.

"What is it to be Irish?"

"It isn't only the realization that he is descended from kings. It is the realization that he is a king himself, an empire on two feet striding in power, a strolling continent of awe.

"What is it to be Irish?"

"Why on St. Patrick's Day, to be Irish is to know more glory, adventure, magic, victory, exultation, gratitude and gladness than any other man can experience in a lifetime.

"What is it to be Irish? It is to walk in complete mystic understanding with God for 24 wonderful hours.

Ike Not to Campaign by Fireside

By RUTH MONTGOMRY

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower—reports to the contrary—has no intention of sticking to a fireside television campaign this fall.

The ceremony is still on, but deep within the White House family, Ike's aides are already beginning a map of a formidable electioneering swing that will take the second-term contender to practically every marginal state of the union.

One of the prime purposes will be in an attempt to recapture the House of Representatives—Democratic since 1954—for the grand old party via the popular Eisenhower coal-tails.

Even the White House intimates concede that the Senate currently looks like a sure bet for the Democrats this fall. Ike, however, has no intention of letting it go by default.

Planes will drop the prey at key cities in such widely scattered areas as California, Oregon, Ohio, Connecticut, Maryland and Pennsylvania. Indiana may also find it in the bag.

In each of these states except Oregon, a Republican senator faces a stiff reelection battle, but in each case the prize goal for the GOP is the elephant party had its way.

"I would rather defeat one Wayne Morse than any Democratic candidate now up for reelection," said a White House spokesman.

THE STORY: Mike Morrison, an American caught by the Nazi invasion of Greece by the Nazis has information for British intelligence. The Germans are tracking him down and how troops have entered Palaeochora, the village in which he hides. Mike is in a church with British Army escapees with Eleftheria, a Greek girl brings news that Mike's benefactor Christos has been shot.

CHAPTER XVI

Mike looked up at Eleftheria. Her eyes were those of a crazy woman's. She slid along the wall toward the door. Mike sprang from the bench and grabbed her arm. She screamed hysterically and sunk her teeth into his hand.

German boots coming up the path!

Mike shook her. She opened her mouth to shriek and struggle free. His fist lashed out and thudded against the side of her face. She slumped unconscious into his arms. "Split up and get out of here!" Mike commanded.

He threw the girl over his shoulder and ran the length of the church toward a small window beside the altar. He pushed Eleftheria through and crawled after. A thundering crash of a rifle butt against the church door!

Mike lifted the girl into his arms and staggered up the path toward the woods. He ducked behind the first low tree and sank to his knees and owered Eleftheria to the ground. He rubbed the numbness from his arms and fought for breath.

A voice shattered the air. "You bloody Hunst! You'll never get Eleftheria!"

A chatter of guns and the voice was still.

Eleftheria stirred on the ground. Her huge eyes snapped open. Mike's hand clamped over her mouth. She shook violently. Mike dragged her to her feet and pulled her through the forest away from the advancing sound of boots.

Faster—faster—the brush ripped their clothes and tore into their skins—faster—away from the flashlights, the barking dogs, the commands.

When he was no longer able to carry her, he dragged her limp body—one hour—two hours—three.

Then he fell to the earth, too exhausted to move. He fell beside her and she lay against him sobbing weakly. The sky opened and a torrent of rain lashed their torn bodies.

Eleftheria sat on a boulder, too exhausted to speak and too dried out for further tears. There were no words. Mike knew of would ever know to comfort the girl. From the barn loft she had seen Christos while resisting the Germans and she had seen Melpo bayoneted as she knelt over her husband.

During the confusion of the roundup Eleftheria had managed to escape from the barn along with a few other villagers. Mike's escape had been possible only because the bulk of the German force had been concentrating on a roundup of the villagers while the remaining soldiers were scattered tracking down five escapees. In his short stay in Palaeochora Mike had learned the lay of the land and the places where the forest was thickest.

The two of them circled about in the hills all day away from the ashes of Palaeochora. From their high vantage point they could see German patrols working tanning out in a growing circle until they gave up futilely at dusk.

Mike reckoned it was safe enough to risk a small fire. It's warmth revived them. He gathered up several armfuls of pine needles and piled them near the fire, then went to Eleftheria and knelt beside her.

Mike knew he could not rove the hills indefinitely. He knew he could not go to Dernica. He knew he could not get to Athens, nor could he afford to cut off from the girl. He further knew that no place in Greece would be safe for long from the relentless Konrad Heiler.

"I have a distant cousin, Despo, who lives in Kaloghrani," Eleftheria said. "It is many kilometers away in the hills. You will be safe there."

"No, Mike said. "I must go to Athens."

The village is so remote that the Germans do not even know it exists. Then I will help you get to Athens. We can reach it by sundown, if tomorrow."

A flat homely old woman hurried in from the kitchen and welcomed Eleftheria. Mike, shirtless, stood about self-consciously, as the three exchanged greetings. At last Eleftheria turned to him.

"This is Jay Linden. He is a soldier of New Zealand and he needs a place to stay."

"English?" the giant inquired.

"Yes."

The giant was introduced to Mike as Barba-Leonidas and shook his hand with such violence that Mike thought he would tear his arm from its socket. Barba-Leonidas found a shirt for Mike many sizes too large and then inquired if they were hungry.

After the meal, Barba-Leonidas listened intently as Eleftheria unfolded the story of Palaeochora.

When Eleftheria had finished, Barba-Leonidas announced, "My only son, Yari, was killed fighting the Italians in Albania. You may have his bed for as long as you wish."

There was something about the direct simplicity of the man that appealed to Mike. He was "real people"—like the longshoremen.

the teamsters, the bartenders and the hookers who filled the pages of Mike's books. A quick bond was established between the two.

praiser, and perhaps at some future day an official appointed locally rather than elected. But our job is to operate under the law as it now is, and so we recently held our first school for county assessors, running four days at Little Rock. Surprisingly enough, the best record in that school was made by an earnest assessor from a small, rural county. Another four-day school will be held the last of October.

"But assessment equalization is a job which must be performed actually at the local level. You folks know your local need. Assessment equalization is your starting point for the necessary money—and you at the local level are best prepared to say how much money you need to operate your schools and other public functions."

Mr. Hinton assured the schoolmen that a long-range helpful program is definitely under way at the state level. For one thing, he said, the law provides that counties and districts which eventually fail to show local effort toward assessment equalization and an approach to the goal of 20 per cent of actual market valuation will be penalized by a reduction in the amount of their state aid. To this end, he said, the state agency is setting up a complex system of comparing sales, establishing a ratio for each year, and one full year's ratio report has already completed. By the time three full years have been given ratio ratings a definite trend will have been established and laggard counties and districts may then be subject to penalties against their normal state aid allotments, he concluded.

Jerome Smith, appraiser retained by the tax-benefitting units of Hempstead county on a $16,000 budget to equalize property assessments, gave the schoolmen this report:

In the City of Hope about 50 per cent of the property assessments are in line, and the other 50 per cent were either raised or lowered. City appraisals weren't conducted on a square-foot basis but were arrived at by actually viewing each property and valuing it according to location, type of construction, and true market worth.

"In the country," Mr. Smith continued, "we are finding that the value of improvements is declining rather than increasing. Many tenant houses, for instance, have been torn down. There is considerable new construction—but not enough to offset the decline of the other."

Elmer Brown, Hempstead county school supervisor, reported that the initial gain in personal property assessments is $383,000.

Also introduced at the meeting were: K. G. Hamilton, secretary of the Hempstead County Equalization Board; Hempstead Tax Assessor Crlt Stuart, and A. H. Washburn, Hope Star publisher.

Thurston Hulsey of Washington presided at the opening of the meeting and Supervisor Brown introduced the speakers and was moderator during a question-and-answer session.

U. S. Taking a New Look at Middle East

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has provided fresh evidence that his administration is taking a critical new look at the whole range of its Arab-Israeli policies.

He told a news conference yesterday that neither he nor Secretary of State Dulles had ever said "that we would not furnish arms to Israel." But he added that "we were hoping for a better solution."

His use of the past tense renewed speculation that eventually the administration may decide to let the Israelis buy at least part of the $3 million dollars worth of weapons which they are seeking.

The Israelis submitted the request in November, saying they want to offset the purchase of Soviet bloc arms by Egypt.

It was learned that the request is under active study now after being on the shelf for months while Eisenhower and Dulles emphasized a policy of avoiding an arms race with the Soviets in the Middle East.

State Department officials said that until now there has been no actual change in American policy on the Middle East. It was learned last weekend, however, that the United States is restudying relations with Egypt in the light of Cairo's increasingly strong anti-Israel moves.

The United States reportedly has not been averse to Egypt's Arab bloc leadership but has hoped it would stress the possibilities of peace rather than emphasizing Arab enmity toward Israel.

The New York Times in a dispatch from Washington reported that the United States is drawing Short Stroke engines develop the kind of power that used to be possible only with much bigger engines. And Short Stroke engines do it on less gas! The shorter stroke means less piston travel, which means less friction to waste power and gas, and less wear, too. You get more usable power also—power that works for you at the rear wheels!

Germany Has Given Films Another Lovely

BY BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Germany's greatest gift to Hollywood since Marlene Dietrich is a taffy-haired natural beauty named Cornelia Borchers.

Actually, she resembles the sultry Dietrich very little. She has been compared to Ingrid Bergman, and indeed she is similar to the noted Swede, both in beauty and bearing.

Like Gergman, Cornelia is statuesque, 5 feet 7 with an ample figure that seems refreshing when stacked up against some of Hollywood's stars. Her skin has that healthy glow of Nordic beauties and she seldom uses makeup.

"I would look silly on me," she remarked. "I only wear enough to make my skin look darker for the camera."

But she added that German women are going in for more beautification than before.

"American women spend much more time grooming themselves," she observed. "Even busy ones, like secretaries and housewives, find the time to put up their hair at night so they'll look good the next day."

Cornelia appears to be set for a successful Hollywood career. She

Help Daughter Make a Go of a Disappointing Marriage

Dear Miss Dix: We are a heartbroken family with a problem that appears insoluble. Our 19-year-old daughter had been dating a boy two years older who never had impressed us very well. So we were highly relieved when he went into service and sent overseas. Our relief was soon to be turned to consternation, however, as we found our daughter about to have his baby. The girl manufactured an excuse to leave home for a while, so we didn't know about her condition until the baby was almost due. She never told the young man.

We bore all the expense and wanted to have the child put out for adoption. However, she was persuaded (not by her father or me) to contact the young man. A proxy marriage was arranged, and from her point of view everything seems settled. We never did like the boy and think much less of him the ancient Roman forum.

BRUSSELS, Belgium. (UP) — Jet meteor night fighter planes at Belgium's Beauvechain Air Force base were grounded today following two crashes in which two airmen were killed.

LONDON (UP) — A British doctor suggested today that bird seed can provoke whistles from more than just birds.

The stuff is excellent for making whistles, he said.

Dr. D. K. Lenox, of Blackpool, writing in the British Medical Journal, said the proper amount of bird seed sowed into circular pieces of gauze fill out brassieres "so much more satisfactorily than ordinary form rubber types."

He recommended Australian millet, selling for about 14 cents a pound, as the best seed for the job. Six to 1 ounces of it sewed into circular gauze bags four to six inches in diameter will provide the proper amount of filling, he said.

TOKYO (UP) — Neutral Burma and Communist Romania have agreed to establish diplomatic relations, Communist Radio Peiping reported yesterday.

BERLIN (UP) — The anti-Communist "Information Bureau West" said today East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht suffered a severe heart attack after his recent return from Moscow. The report could not be confirmed.

LA PAZ, Bolivia. (UP) — Bolivian agrarian reform law hit President Victor Pa Estenssoro yesterday.

His large farm was parceled among peasants who received full title to the land.

He never observes those little niceties that make life move smoothly. I, on the other hand, was brought up to have perfect manners. I like my friend and enjoy his company. My folks think I'm foolish if I don't accept him, but do you think the marriage could be a happy one?

Answer: Very few people, things or situations are ideally perfect. While good manners certainly do make life more attractive in this case I think they could be by-passed in favor of other and more important factors. Of course, if you decide to take him, you must have an agreement with yourself not to nag or become annoyed at his lack of grace. Probably your own good manners will encourage imitation.

Logart Battles
Mexico's Ortega

NEW YORK (AP) — Two fast-rising young welterweights with a punch, Cubas Isaac (Kid) Logart and Mexico's Gaspar (Indian) Ortega, put their victory studded records on the line tonight in the 10-round main event at Madison Square Garden.

Logart, 22-year-old sensation from Carnegie, Cuba, which sent former champion Kid Gavilan to the top of the welter, has a record of 11 victories, five defeats and five draws in 51 fights. Eighteen of his triumphs were knockouts.
Fifteen knockouts show on Ortega's record of 32 wins and five defeats. The 20-year-old Mexican boxer earned a main event spot by his spectacular performances in recent semi-windups.
The bout will be televised and broadcast (NBC) at 9 p. m. CST.

These and other cage questions
will be answered over the weekend in the three big post-season
college tournaments. National Invitation Tournament and NAIA.

The far-flung NCAA tourney,
with double-headers tonight in
Philadelphia, Lawrence, Kan., Iowa City and Corvallis, Ore., gets
most of the attention, tonight's winners meet in the same cities
tomorrow night, and the winners
of those games converge on Evansville, Ill., next Thursday for the big windup.

The NAIA, after a strenuous week, goes into the semifinals tonight in Kansas City and Mc-Neese State meeting Pittsburg (Kan.) and Texas Southern playing Wheaton.

The NIT gets going with double-headers tomorrow afternoon and night in Madison Square Garden, New York.

Getting back to the unanswered questions, the big one is posed at Corvallis. Thais where All America Bill Russell of San Francisco, named The Stuffer for continuously ramming the all down the basket, again runs afoul of UCLA's Willie (The Whales) Naulls. Russell won the last time they met, in New York's Holiday Festival in December, but since then has lost the help of guard K. C. Jones, a second-team All America indig-ible for the NCAA Tournament.

Both San Francisco, No. 1 in the nation in the final Associated Press poll with a 25-0 record, and UCLA, No. 2 with 21-5, boast lone winning streaks. UCLA has won 17 straight since the December loss to USC, while the Dons boast the all-time major college winning streak of 51.

The somewhat overshadowed second game at Corvallis matches
Utah, champion of the skyline Conference at 22-5, against Seattle (17-8).

Tonight little Morehead of Kentucky will meet Iowa, champions of the Big Ten for the second successive year. Morehead was the nation's highest scoring major team during the regular season with 96 points a game.

The other game at Iowa City
also is a David and Goliath affair with little Wayne (Mich.) 17-1 during the regular season and surprise victor over DePaul in the first round, taking on mighty Kentucky.

Southern Methodist, which barely missed being extinguished by the upset wave in the NCAA, first round against Texas Tech, puts its 23-2 record on No. 7 national ranking against Houston 17-5
mark in one game at Lawrence.
Kansas State (16-7), Big Seven titlist, meets perennial NCAA at-large entry Oklahoma City (19-6) in the other game.

At Philadelphia, Temple, 23-3
after knocking off Holy Cross, meets Connecticut (17-9) and Canisuis (18-6) plays Dartmouth (17-10). Canisius pulled the upset of the tourney thus far by knocking off North Carolina State, No. 2 in the nation, in the first round Monday.

Prof. A. W. Williamson
Annual Men's Day Speaker
Professor A. W. Williamson, principal of the Sevier county High School, will be the annual men's day speaker at the BeBe
C. M. E. Church Sunday March 18, at 3 p. m. Mr. Williamson is one of Arkansas leading lay-leaders of the C. M. E. Church and is quite an orator. The theme for the men's day program will be "Up Ye Men." Special music will be furnished by the Freeman Chapel church choir of Ashdown of which Mr. Williamson is a Steward and lay leader.

One hundred men of the greater Hope area are expected to attend this men's day celebration and hear this great lay church leader. Some of the lay men leaders of the BeBe Church helping to spearhead this men's day program are: R. D. George, Dandy Taylor, Reece Cannon, and Dan Hamilton.
The senior and junior choirs of the BeBe church will sing jointly Sunday at three o'clock to help make this annual men's program a success. Some of Hope's city officials will appear on the program.

Harmon Wehmeir Bob Miller and Saul Rogovin limited the St. Louis Cardinals as the Philadelphia Phi-lies came away with a 2-1 victory.
Willie Jones solo homer in the fourth inning off Ellis Kider was the big blow.

The Kansas City As, behind the fivehit chugging of Art Ceccarelli, Chuck Kowalski and Dutch Rom-berger, whitewashed the Chicago White Sox 1-0. The Athletics got the winning run in the fifth inning while Minnie Miñoso dropped an easy fly ball, enabling Jim Flingan to score from third.

Gene Conley, making his first start since suffering an injury last August, fired three hitless innings as the Milwaukee Braves sent the Brooklyn Dodgers down to their fifth setback in six games 6-2. Eddie Matthews whacked a pair of homers for the Braves.

Detroit was held to only four hits
by Johnny Kucke, Rip Cowman and Ralph Terry as the New York Yankees clobbered the Tigers 8-2. Bill Skowron drove in three runs for the Yanks with a single and a homer.

In other games, Dick Gernerts triple in the 10th inning gave the Boston Red Sox a victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs and the Cleveland Indians unleashed a 17-hit attack led by homers by Al
Smith and Hoot Evers, to beat the Baltimore Orioles.

Cage Spotlight
Is Centered on Big Tourneys

By RIP WATSON
Of The Associated Press

Can the Stuffer outscore the Whale? Are the Big Ten champions big enough to slow down the nations biggest scorers? And how many more of the nations collegiate basketball powers will be washed overboard by a wave of upsets?

These and other cage questions
will be answered over the weekend in the three big post-season
college tournaments. National Invitation Tournament and NAIA.

The far-flung NCAA tourney,
with double-headers tonight in
Philadelphia, Lawrence, Kan.,
Iowa City and Corvallis, Ore., gets
most of the attention, tonight's
winners meet in the same cities
tomorrow night, and the winners
of those games converge on Evansville, Ill., next Thursday for the big wind and satisfying. One cannot but be appalled at the extent to which the simplest and plainest teachings of Jesus, and His example, have been disregarded and neglected. Many who have professed His name have built up the elaborate systems, of which the poet, Tennyson, wrote: "Our little systems have their most hopeful and satisfying thing in this realization: in every age day; They have their day, and generation there have been cease to be: They are but broken those who loved their Lord in lights of These, And Thou, O sincerity and truth and mani-Lord, art more than they." This departure from "the simple" has been plicity that is in Christ" has been a continuity of faith and life that marked by bitter controversies living and persecutions, even violence and warfare, to such an extent But all has not been hopeful that one writer once put it "it we would understand Christ, we must abolish Christianity." That, of course, is a false and extreme statement as false as the perversion, that the writer deplored, for we must always be going back to Jesus and the New Testament, if we would have something more than broken lights of the Christ. In the failure to attain all that Jesus intended for His disciples and all that He intended them to be, perhaps a crucial sadness is in the way in which the Lord's supper has been made a symbol of division and separation, to the extent that the various denominations and sects have been known as "communions."

Among the Protestant churches situation of division has been a measure of correction of this effected in recent years. The National Council of Churches, and the World Council of Churches, have established a sort of overhead fellowship, one of the very fine products of which has been the provision for a World-Communion Sunday, in October of each year. This is all to the good. But every communion service should be a world communion. During the years when I was presiding over the monthly communion service the company was not always large, though always larger than the group at the original Lord's Supper in the Upper Room. I always sought to impress upon those who participated that we were not a small company, but were surrounded with "so great a cloud of witnesses" (Hebrews 12:1), in communion with the great company of the saints in the Church militant and the Church triumphant. It means a great deal to be lifted out of a small circle to the universe of all who love the Lord. The organization of councils of churches has meant a great deal in the break down of denominational barriers. But one defect, even of such commendable movements, is that they tend to make ecumenicity - oneness - a matter of organization of compromises toward of feeling such organization. Truly ecumenicity is a matter of the spirit.
